Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

This application currently names joint inventors. In considering patentability of the claims under 35 U.S.C. 103(a), the examiner presumes that the subject matter of the various claims was commonly owned at the time any inventions covered therein were made absent any evidence to the contrary. Applicant is advised of the obligation under 37 CFR 1.56 to point out the inventor and invention dates of each claim that was not commonly owned at the time a later invention was made in order for the examiner to consider the applicability of 35 U.S.C. 103(c) and potential 35 U.S.C. 102(e), (f) or (g) prior art under 35 U.S.C. 103(a).

Claims 1-24 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over the European Patent (EP 0134002A1), in view of Smith et al (4,256,700).

The European reference discloses a heat resistant filter layer for a diesel exhaust filter comprising a material (3) being at least partially pervious to a fluid (see Abstract), at least one filter section (111) of heat and corrosion resistant material metal (see Abstract), and the layers being stacked to form a gas-permeable packet wherein the layers are connected to one another by brazing or welding in at least one connecting section (see 19 in Fig. 9). Claims 1-24 differ from the disclosure of the European reference in that the boundary region having a first layer thickness being different than a second layer thickness of the filter section. Smith et al disclose a filter for catalytic converter having a filter sections (10, 12), a boundary region (58) extending from the filter section wherein the boundary region has a first layer thickness (see 32 in Fig. 5) is different (or from Fig. 5, is less than) from the second layer thickness (see 33 in Fig. 5), and the thickness has a variety of dimensions (see col. 3, lines 64-68, col. 4, lines 18-19, col. 4, lines 58-64, col. 5, lines 9-44). It would have been obvious to a person having ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to provide a filter with the boundary region in different thickness as taught by Smith et al in the apparatus of the European reference to provide a seal accommodating space so as to prevent fracturing of the filter material while allowing sufficient expansion of the filter housing with heat.

Conclusion

The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure.

- Jalbing (4,238,456) disclose a catalytic converter.
- Meineken et al (4,279,326) disclose an exhaust muffler.
- Gerber et al (4,475,623) disclose a universal muffler assembly.

Art Unit: 1724

- Hood (4,559,205) discloses a catalytic converter substrate assembly.
- Sager, Jr. (5,482,681) discloses a catalytic converter for motor vehicles.
- Okabe et al (5,567,395) disclose a catalytic carrier for a catalytic converter.
- Takahashi et al (6,057,263) disclose a metallic catalyst carrier.
